

Women's Action-Faslane 365

October 1st - 3rd 2006

at Faslane Nuclear Base, Scotland

Come for workshops, protest, music, dancing, singing, drumming, decorating the base, debate... and fun!

Faslane is the UK's nuclear submarine base, and central to the government's plans to build a new generation of nuclear weapons. It currently hosts 4 submarines carrying 58 Trident missiles and up to 200 warheads - each 8 times more powerful than the bomb that destroyed Hiroshima.

25 years after Greenham, women will be starting off the first three days of Faslane 365, a year long peaceful blockade of the naval base involving groups and organisations from Scotland, England, Wales and beyond.

Gather from noon on October 1. Bring food to share, warm clothes, waterproofs, musical or other instruments...

There will be workshops on:

- Aldermaston Atomic Weapons Establishment - where the UK nuclear warheads are made
- International Women in Black, issues and actions
- Resisting Occupation and Patriarchy in Palestine
- War Policies, Refugees and Asylum Seekers
- Nonviolence training and planning for actions
- And more...

Bring sleeping bags and tents and camp by the base or stay at a campsite, youth hostel or bed and breakfast nearby.

Be ready to blockade the base on Monday and Tuesday. Come for one day or three - come to join in, take action or support . . .

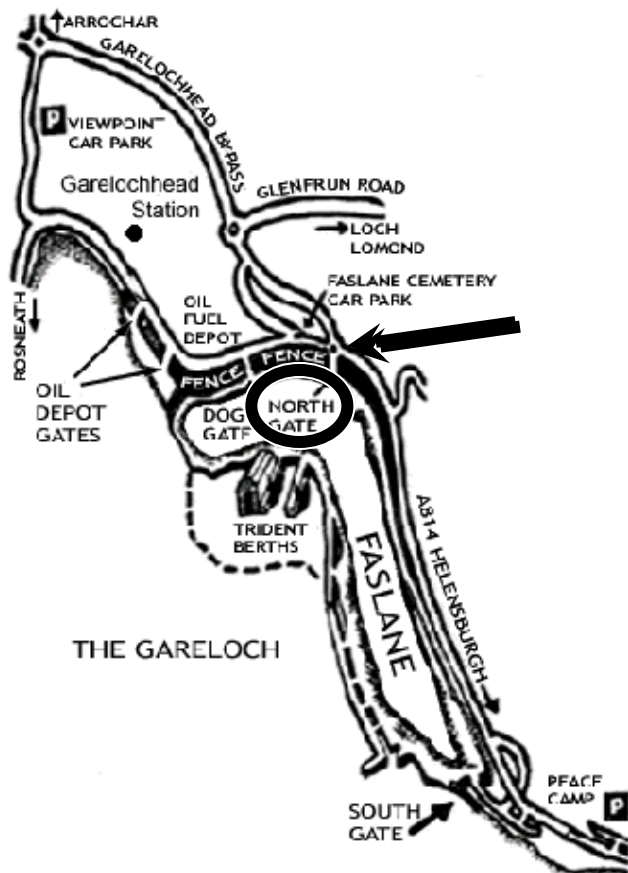

ACT NOW BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE!

The UK government is deciding now about developing a new generation of nuclear weapons costing billions of pounds. Work has already started at Aldermaston in violation of Britain's international legal obligations. Concerted civil resistance can stop this dangerous development and bring nuclear disarmament closer.
